

A large, pink, round unicorn character with a single horn and a smiling face, looking towards the speech bubble.

When you put autistic people in categories like "high functioning" and "low functioning", it is ableist & dehumanizing. Every autistic person deserves respect no matter how much support you think we might need.

